Compare the above 1850 map with the below 2009 map. I added the red line on the map below, Then put a copy of the red line above, but had to resize to try to fit above map. You can see That the island names change and the names of the rivers/sloughs also change. The specific location of “Hogsback Shoals” is shown above at the approximate location of current-day Snug Harbor on Steamboat Slough
