This map is from a slide show summarizing BDCP progress in March 2008 Notice it doesn't even show the alternate route. Why? Because it was never really intended to put a canal on the west side, since the west side would be designated for restoration